Humanity surprises visiting Soviet

By Elissa Cottle

As a citizen of the Soviet Union visiting the United States, Serge Metchulayev has found most everything he was told about this country to be true.

"I knew that your standard of living was very high. I also knew that you had homeless people and people who were deprived of their rights," said Metchulayev, 26.

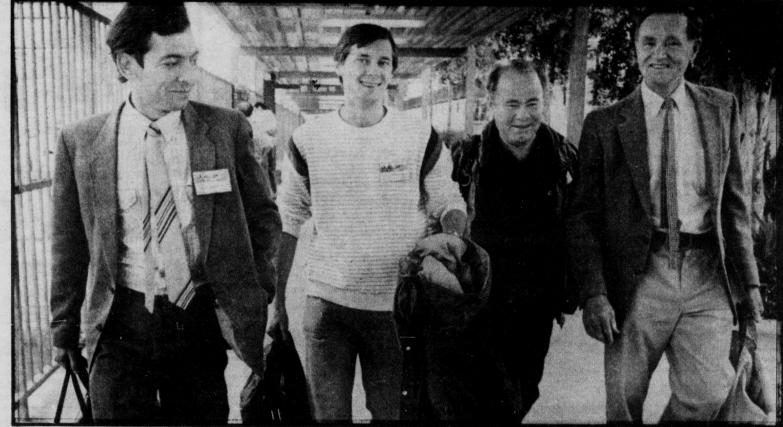

The one thing he didn't count on was the kind of people who call themselves Americans.

"I thought they weren't going to be so human. Now I understand they are really human. It was astonishing to me, in a sense," explained the Soviet visitor.

Metchulayev is one of four Soviets who arrived in the valley Thursday to spend five days living with local families and getting a close look at America.

Their visit is being hosted by the Claremont Association for Mutual American/Soviet Understanding, a private organization established in 1986 to foster better East-West relations on a grassroots level.

Like right-wing rhetoric in the United States which has branded the Soviet Union an "evil empire," the Soviet Union has conjured up distorted images of Americans as "the enemy," said Metchulayev, a staff member of the Soviet Peace Committee, a nongovernmental, private organization. "We have to break these false ideas," he said.

Asked what he believed were major differences between his country and the United States, Metchulayev said: "The people here are more active in everyday life. In our country, passiveness is one of the things I still

R.C. Council candidates miss filing deadline

By Lee Peterson

Five Rancho Cucamonga City Council candidates missed the deadline for filing their campaign spending and contribution reports.

Three of the five tardy hopefuls turned in their mandatory reports within 24 hours after the Wednesday 5 p.m. deadline, while the other two candidates were reportedly set to file their papers this morning.

City Clerk Beverly Authelet

said the late-filers could, but would not be fined. The statements are to reflect financial activity from July 1 through Sept. 30.

In the council contest, with all but two of the 12 reports in, challenger Bill Holley is leading his 11 opponents in raising and spending funds. He has garnered nearly $8,300 — mostly from contributions less than $100 — and has spent $6,163 on campaign-related expenditures. Holley has been running a highly visible campaign in the city.

Candidate James Hampton follows Holley with contributions totaling $5,682.

Incumbent Councilwoman
Pam Wright and Bill Alexander, a Foothill Fire Protection District director, have amassed bank rolls of $3,510 and $3,317 respectively.

Six of the other council candidates reported raising less than $3,000, and three of those have collected less than $200.

The two missing reports are those of candidates John Lyons and Russell Tourville who are expected to turn in the documents today.

The Rancho Cucamonga
Firefighters Professional
Association Political Action Committee donated $1,000 each to council candidate Kevin Eggleston and incumbent Mayor
Dennis L. Stout.

In the mayoral race, Stout has built his re-election campaign war chest to nearly $35,000, spending $19,000 of that in the last three months.

His opponent, Councilman Charles Buquet, who has imposed a $100 cap on contributions to his campaign, has raised a total of $9,500 and spent $6,450.

Buquet's expenditures include $300 for rental of a booth from which to distribute campaign literature at this weekend's Grape Harvest Festival at Cucamonga-Guasti Regional their American counterparts. However, with the reforms put forth by Soviet leader and newly elected President Mikhail Gorbachev, individual initiative is growing, said Metchulayev.

In spite of the limitations in Soviet life, he said he would never choose the United States over his homeland.

"There's nothing more in my life that I love than my country. I love my wife, my sons, my parents, the land, the rivers, the people and the problems, which I would like to solve," he said.

"I would like to make the people happy again. ... They won a very difficult war and were able to rebuild the country from ashes. ... I think they have earned a very beautiful life."

Metchulayev is here with Lukim Kayoumov, a regional leader of the Soviet Communist Party; Rauf Kadymov, a Soviet filmmaker; and Nataly Asatiany,

They are staying with Jack and Diana Merritt and Ernest and Jocelyn O'Byrne, of Claremont, and Eugene and OraLea Bowers of La Verne.

Their 20-day trip started in Washington, D.C., and then across the country to San Francisco. From here, they will visit cities in Kentucky, New Hampshire and New York.

The Soviet visitors are sponsored by the U.S./U.S.S.R. Initiatives, a San Franciscobased exchange organization, and the Soviet Peace Committee. In addition, the Claremont Association for Mutual American/Soviet Understanding is contributing $1,000 to their stay, according to Elizabeth Vieg, the association's first vice president.

The Soviet visitors are part of a program of the U.S./USSR Initiatives called "Soviets Meet Middle America."

STRESS HEART ATTACKS ARE THEY COVERED UNDER WORKERS' COMPENSATION?

Heart attacks can be caused by stress, and if the stress comes from your employment, then it is covered under Workers' Compensation. The hard part is proving that it was the stress at work that caused the heart attack.

Every heart attack should be investigated to determine whether it is work related. Your family doctor is a good source of information. If you have any inclina-tion that the heart attack is work related, you should see a lawyer who will investigate the matter further.

Even if you love to convenience of

OMNI-shopping.

All insurance companies routinely deny all heart attack claims. They routinely do not pay any of the claims. It takes substantial medical evidence to convince them otherwise, and this is where your lawyer can help you.

Examples of "stress" related heart attacks":

1. Persons having an attack after long hours of work 2. Persons having an attack after an argument with the boss 3. Persons having an attack after being verbally humiliated by their supervisor

4. Persons having an attack as a result of months of tormenting by their supervisor

The list could go on forever.
ALL HEART ATTACKS SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED TO SEE IF THEY ARE WORK RELATED

THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR ADVICE ON COMPENSATION.

ALJHS honors

Alta Loma Junior High School is celebrating the success of its students who participated in the Golden State Examination, a new student achievement/recognition program.

This year students were tested in algebra. The following students received high honors: Beth A. Abromovitz, Raymond J. Butman, Kenneth C. Jones, Ashley McMaster, Jaya Philipose, Brian F. Rhodes, Kristin A. Rowe and Brian Wright.

Receiving honors were Lanna Carter, Anna Chin, Naz Choudhury, Jenifer Clark, Angela Duran, Diana Enriquez, Anna Haskvitz, Danny Houghton, Geoff Minet, and Jennifer

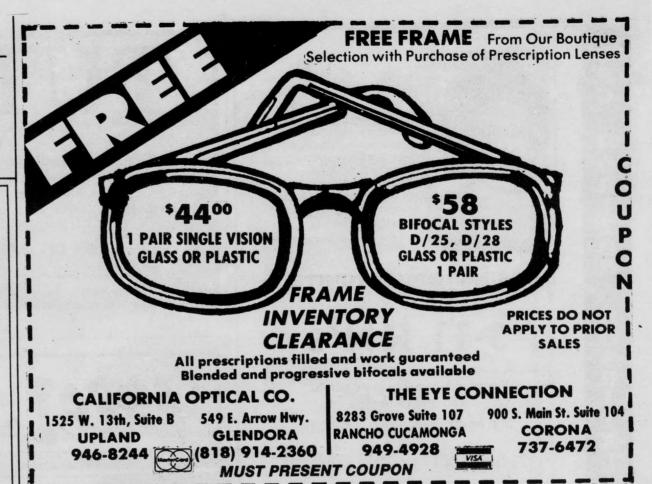

Receiving school recognition were Daniel Bartholomeusz, Brandi Brown, Valerie Butler, Thomas Carr, Lee Escandon, Brian Geye, Giles Goodwin, Mark Goodwin, Mary Hansson, Michelle Hollenbeck, Kristina Kroll, Irish Lal, Mike Lim, Robert Minnick, Amie Panzer, Alicia Rebman, Garth Reese, Kevin Reynolds, Julie Schutte, Judith Tejero, Rendal Tippetts, Amy Van Slogteren, Wendy Watson, Christina Woodward, Tristan Young, Eric Youngstrom and Sarah Zammit.

VOTE, TUES., NOV. 8.

He's not stealing from his parents.
He hasn't got a criminal record.
He isn't into drugs.

So why is he getting counseling?

You might expect that only delinquents or drug abusing teenagers need counseling. Not true.

Take Todd. He's a good kid, works hard at school, but he's moved with his family three times over the past five years. It seems as if he's unable to get "grounded" anywhere. It's tough trying to fit in "one more time."

This, of course, is not the picture of a great American teenage tragedy, but minor stress can often lead to more serious problems. Preventing these problems before they reach a serious peak is important.

That's why Todd and his parents are working with the experts at the Charter Counseling Center. Delinquency and drug addiction are difficult to stop once they start. The answer is to prevent the problems before they begin.

To find out how counseling can help you and your family, call Charter Counseling Center day or evening.

Salinger sees much change in campaigns

While the nation's vice presidential nominees debated in Omaha, ABC foreign correspondent Pierre Salinger spoke in Claremont about his days as press secretary to John F. Kennedy and the changes in American politics since his days in the White Election reform since the Kennedy era has divorced presidential campaigns from issues and focused them almost entirely on personalities and private lives, Salinger told an audience of 400 at Claremont McKenna College Wednesday night.

"It is rare that I have seen less real discussion of fundamental issues than there has been in 1988," Salinger

As Salinger reminisced about the Kennedy era, he described how only 14 states held primaries and how parties picked the delegates in the remaining 36 states before the primary system changed in

"What we did was take away power from the parties and hand it to someone else ... the media," he said.

"It really worries me that we're not getting into a deep discussion," said Salinger, during an earlier press conference.

What is the president going to do about the fact that we're the number one debtor nation in the world?," he asked.

Salinger nevertheless predicted Wednesday's faceoff between the vice presidential nominess would influence the outcome of the election. Who steps in to replace the president in the event of a tragedy is of great concern to the American people, said Salinger, who watched Lyndon B. Johnson take over the nation's highest office in 1963.

"A lot of people are uncomfortable about voting for George Bush because of Quayle. A majority of Americans are not concerned about Bentsen as president." he said. Salinger helped arrange the first nationally televised debates between Kennedy and then Vice President Richard Nixon in Salinger's visit to Claremont also came shortly before the 25th anniversary of the Nov. 22 Kennedy assassination. Salinger and other top aides were headed for Japan when they learned the president had

"Lancer is dead" was the shocking coded message which confirmed the tragedy.

Salinger spoke of his undying admiration for Kennedy as he told behind-thescenes stories of some of the most important historical events of the Cold War era.
